

DLP Interactions Model

Contributing User

This user, author or Collaborator can create new or edit existing resources, learning objects, and course plans. They also inherit all the rights of a registered user public users.

After authenticating...

- 1) They are presented with tools to import or export packaged content.
- 2) They are presented with a view of the course plans, modules or resources they are authoring or collaborating
- 3) They are presented with tools to create new or edit existing course plans, learning objects or resources.

Registered User

This user is registered with the site and has the permission to view course plans that are published to a limited audience. They also inherit the rights of public users.

After authenticating...

- 1) they are presented with a view of the course plans they are allowed to see
- 2) they are allowed to see related course plans.
- 3) They are allowed to see related modules.
- 4) They are allowed to see related resources.

Public User

This user is not registered and is allowed to see and interact with any course plan, module, or resource that is published without restriction. They have access to tools for displaying related course plans, modules and resources. They can self select to register, request enrollment, and request contributor status.

